MUKDEN, Feb. 18.—Manchuria, for decades the goal of imperialistic ambitions in the Far East, became an independent territory today.

A proclamation issued by seven Manchurian leaders claiming to represent the three rich provinces which comprise China's richest domain, established a new state free from control of the Chinese government.

The new state will have as its emblem the old five-barred flag of Imperial China, emblazoned with the rising sun of Japan. Henry Pu-Yi, the former "boy emperor" of China, is slated eventually to become ruler of the new state.

Sign Proclamation

The seven leaders signing the proclamation of independence including Tang Yu-Lin, governor of Jehol Province, and two Mongolian leaders, none of whom attended the numerous conferences held here at which plans for the new state were drawn up.

General Ma Chan-Shan, who for days defended the Manchurian cities of Anganchi and Tsitsihar against the invading Japanese last fall, signed on behalf of the districts of Linshien and Hailor.

Japanese Consul-General Hsieh represented Chia-Wang, who claims the chieftom of ten Mongolian tribes west of Kirin.

Chang Ching-Hui, who resigned the chairmanship of Heilungkiang Province in favor of Ma Chan-Shan at the time of the Japanese occupation, was named chairman by headquarters of the independent leaders, although the proclamation (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

In the cafeteria of the Senior high school there is a container and the students have been requested to deposit all tin foil they get. When enough bulk has been procured the tin foil will be sold and the money derived from this means will be used to aid the educational fund for blind persons in the city.

The diamond's famous Indian council tree is drawing some attention these days, since it has been safeguarded with an iron guard rail and a plaque announcing its importance. Pedestrians are notified to stop and read the inscription.

There was a regular procession of motorists on the Highland avenue hill this morning, waiting for street department employees to finish the job of ashing the hill. They ran out of ashes a short distance below the Cathedral, and the motorists seemed afraid to venture any further. In a short time traffic was blocked. Finally they cut loose, however, and crept down over the hill in low gear. Some of the more daring went out around them and it was observed that they did not skid, so the rest felt safe in creeping down as slowly as possible.

From Feb. 1 to 15, inclusive, 8,295 quarts of free milk were passed out at the City Rescue Mission. There were 690 quarts of soup distributed. It's still "everlastingly at it."

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 18.—Flew in here from Detroit. Spent the day with Mr. Ford. When the world is in a hole I go to Ford and ask him, he has more common sense than all of 'em. Then, too, I know there are more people interested in the new Ford than there are interested in Manchuria; they ain't going to get into Manchuria, but they are going to get in these Fords. I think what he feels is what the country needs is a good eight-cylinder car at the price of the old four and a new four at the price of a good baby buggy. He drove me around in everything he had. It's a real tonic to visit a man that has more money invested all over the world than any five men, and more. He said: "Will, you never was as funny purposely, as some of our prominent and rich people are acting these days. This is not a panic, it's a side show, watching folks and seeing how scared they can get."

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Firemen Find Father And Son Dead In Bedroom, Two Sons Escape

FLAMES MAKE RAPID HEADWAY

(International News Service)
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Trapped in their blazing home, a father and his 9-year old son perished here early today. Two other sons escaped.

The victims were: Frank Jarkowski, Sr., 55, and his youngest son, James.

Fire Quickly Spreads

The blaze was discovered by one of the sons, Frank Jarkowski, Jr., who was asleep on the first floor. He ran upstairs shouting that the house was afire. Before he was able to arouse the others the stairway behind him collapsed. He and his brother John, however, escaped by jumping from a second-story window.

The father and James were caught in another room of the same floor and overcome. Firemen fought frantically to reach the trapped pair, but when they reached the father's bedroom both were dead.

Sophie Tucker Is Heroine In Blaze At Palace Theatre

Famous Actress Tries To Quiet Audience When Lamp Ignites Curtain

SEVEN INJURED SUFFER INJURIES

Panic Averted In New York City's Biggest Vaudeville House By Cool Heads

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Sophie Tucker, last of the "red hot mama" singers was the idol of Broadway today because her cool headedness helped avert a panic when flames swept the stage of the Palace Theatre during last night's performance.

Seven persons were burned or injured in the crush as the 1900 persons crowding the world-famous vaudeville house made their exit in hasty, frightened, but more or less orderly fashion.

Lamp Overturned

A stage lamp was overturned as Miss Tucker finished her dance routine. Sparks from a short circuit ignited a flimsy curtain back of Miss Tucker.

Though it immediately became a sheet of flame, Miss Tucker kept talking to the crowd, fast becoming panic stricken, while the asbestos curtain was lowered.

Just before it reached the stage, however, the blazing curtain roaring behind it crept over the footlights and scorched the orchestra pit.

The calming work of Miss Tucker was taken up by firemen and other level-headed persons in the audience. Only in parts of the house was there pell-mell rush toward the doors. In these mad scrambles several persons were crushed and hurt.

The fire was soon brought under control.

Germany's Views For Disarmament Heard At Geneva

Germany Advocates Wide-spread Reductions Of Arms Of All Types

WOULD ABOLISH ALL AIRCRAFT

Want Disarmament Equally Applicable To All Other Nations

GENEVA, Feb. 18.—Rejecting the draft convention of the disarmament preparatory commission because of "omissions and defects," Germany today presented its proposals to the disarmament conference, advocating widespread reductions of arms of all types.

A striking feature of the German plan was the demand for a total abolition of all military aircraft and the destruction of all existing air armaments.

Germany's Views Given

Rudolph Nadolny handed a memorandum containing the German proposals to officials of the conference shortly before it convened. The German delegate was the first to speak.

The German views were a bitter attack of the Versailles treaty and its provisions specifically limiting Germany's army, while allowing larger forces to be maintained by other powers, and of the draft convention.

Father Of Ten Children Found Murder Victim

Factory Watchman Of Lansdale, Pa., Found Hanging In Locker Room

(International News Service)
LANSDALE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Swinging like a gruesome Marionette, the battered body of Samuel Forti, 45-year-old factory watchman, was found hanging in a locker room of the Werner Foundry company today.

The victim had been beaten into unconsciousness, trussed up hand and foot and suspended from a rope tossed over a plank across the tops of two lockers.

Lansdale police said the slayer, after hanging his victim, had smashed Forti about the face and head as he slowly strangled. Both eyes were discolored while the head was bruised and battered. Forti's hands were tied behind his back.

Complete mystery enveloped the crime. A suicide theory was rejected. Police said it was a clear case of murder.

Neither relatives nor factory officials could advance any motive for the killing. Relatives said he had no known enemies.

The body was found by Harry Long, foundry foreman, when he went into the locker room. Forti had been dead for several hours.

The victim is survived by his widow and ten children.

PEACE OVERTURES FAIL; ULTIMATUM GIVEN TO CHINESE

Chinese Leaders Declare Soldiers Will Resist Jap Demands

Japan Demands Chinese Troops Withdraw Twelve Miles From Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—Hello Everybody! Peace overtures have failed.

Japan has delivered her ultimatum.

Shanghai's war will resume at five o'clock Saturday afternoon unless:

First, Chinese armed forces have withdrawn a distance of twenty kilometres north, east and west of the International settlement and the French concession.

Second, The Chinese agree to permanent razing of the Woosung forts near Shanghai and the Lion fort at Nanking.

These are the developments and conditions officially reported tonight to Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commander of United States forces in Shanghai.

Shanghai's Chinese mayor, Wu Te-Chen, who received the ultimatum from the hands of the chief of staff of the Japanese ninth division, threw his hands in the air upon receipt of it and exclaimed:

Chinese To Resist

"Never, never. These demands are more infamous than Japan's attempted robbery at Versailles.

"The Chinese army will resist to the last man. We will fight her on our soil amongst the sacred graves of our ancestors."

It was at 9:45 p. m. that Mayor Wu received the ultimatum. I was in his presence a moment later and saw the look of anguish that crossed his face as he announced the demands were unacceptable and that hostilities must continue.

"Japan orders China to remove its army from our greatest commercial city and destroy the defenses of the capital of our nation," Mayor Wu exclaimed. "It is the same as handing a man a pistol and politely asking him to commit suicide."

"Imagine a foreign invader commanding withdrawal of the American army and navy from New York harbor."

"Imagine an enemy in your midst commanding you to reduce the defenses of your national capital at Washington."

"Would America accept such terms and obey such outrageous commands?"

"Of course not. Neither will China."

Japanese Version

The Japanese version of the ultimatum differed in some respects from the Chinese. The Japanese version stated that in the event of Chinese withdrawal, the Nipponese troops would not advance, bombard or pursue the retreating forces.

Roosevelt Will Remove Farley

Gov. Roosevelt Convinced That Sheriff Farley Must Be Ousted

CORRUPTION IS CLEARLY OUTLINED

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt has decided to remove Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, powerful Tammany district leader, on the charges preferred by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee, it was declared today by officials close to the executive.

The governor, according to the same source of information, probably will announce his formal ruling by Sunday or early next week.

Convinced Of Guilt

In ousting Farley the governor, it was said, will base his decision only on two of the 12 specific charges made by Seabury—the one dealing with the "wonderful tin box" and alleged unexplained huge bank deposits, and the other with Farley's admission that he retained interest on funds in his custody.

Roosevelt is said to be so firmly convinced Sheriff Farley must be removed that he will take steps regardless of whether it costs him Tammany's support for the presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention. The governor repeatedly said, prior to Farley's trial, that he would make his decision without giving any thought to politics.

BYGONES—IN BUSINESS

THE business man or manufacturer whose hope for the future is wrapped up in an expected return to pre-war normalcy is out on a limb. For pre-war normalcy never will return. That's history.

We still hear suggestions and hopes of reverting to old-time methods and the pre-war business basis, but, according to Dr. Julius Klein, of the United States Department of Commerce, such a retrogression would be about as simple as an attempt to return to the middle ages—and as profitable.

There isn't a great deal of room in business these days for Aunt Sarah, who inherited a shoe factory and insisted that the factory go on making high-laced shoes because Uncle Ezra sold 'em in the '70s. American business never was more dynamic and volatile than it is today, with a constantly changing front in practically all lines.

Since 1921, Mr. Klein points out, American business has left as monuments of its progress a long succession of junk-heaps of discarded processes, antiquated ideas and obsolete policies. There have been tragedies of those who clung too long to revered and once profitable practices.

The new business man must be eager to take advantage of the slightest changes in trend. It is no day for secrecy. Backward glimpses should not be longing and desirous of what is behind, but intelligently inquisitive of facts.

BASEBALL AGAIN

Baseball is just around the corner. The advance guard of the Chicago Cubs has started for the club's training grounds in California. The next week or two will see training activities at full tilt in all major league camps. The national game will be back on the sport pages and the task of picking this year's winners will begin in earnest.

In spite of the usual winter conversation about important trades most of the clubs will begin in February where they left off in October. Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, is standing pat and his policy characterizes pretty well that of other managers and owners.

There will be recruits in the training camps, but not in the usual large numbers. As in previous years comparatively few of the newcomers are expected to make the grade.

The expected fight between players and owners over salaries has failed to develop. The holdouts held the headlines for a few days but little is heard of them as time to depart for the training camp approaches. This is a poor year for the baseball star of yesterday to retire from the game to go into business or to become a customers' man.

None of the teams accordingly will be much crippled this year by the tardy arrival of star players for training. With an opportunity to receive transportation to and three squares a day until April 10 in a good southern or far western hostelry, what young man would not welcome the opportunity this year to try out even for the Red Sox or White Sox?

CANDIDATE GARNER

One "favorite son" whose presidential candidacy has attained the proportions of a baby boom is Speaker Garner. Until former Governor Smith issued his statement of availability, Mr. Garner was just one of the numerous "favorite sons" who will receive a few complimentary votes from their home states pending a decision from their delegations where to throw their real support. Now he is a full-fledged candidate by virtue of a number of circumstances.

There are signs that the Texan may become the head and front of the "stop Roosevelt" movement, which, before Al. Smith issued his statement, had no great hope of succeeding.

Should Governor Roosevelt fail to win the nomination on an early ballot the convention will look around for an acceptable compromise candidate. This will give Representative Garner his opportunity.

A popular speaker of the house possesses some peculiar advantages. The fact that he occupies the most influential official position held by any Democrat is a powerful point in his favor.

Thus far the Garner campaign has been limited to the election of delegates favorable to his candidacy in a number of congressional districts. If he succeeds in leavening "favorite son" delegations from other states with a sprinkling of members pledged to him, these supporters will exert a strong influence in his behalf should the Roosevelt drive fail to go over the top.

THE HIT-AND-RUN MENACE

It is hardly necessary to say that every effort should be made to apprehend motorists who flee from the scene of an accident leaving a victim helpless in the road. Such a person offends all sense of decency and every dictate of civilization.

One appreciates that for a moment a motorist might be panic-stricken when he realizes he has struck down a fellow-being. But he who yields to fear and flees the scene convicts himself of cowardice. But he, who actuated only by cunning, leaving a human being in distress, is worse than a coward.

An appeal to manhood where there is no manhood is futile. So long as there is a possibility of escaping the consequences of carelessness there will be those who will attempt it.

The only effective check against the hit-and-run driver is increased efficiency of the police in ferreting out such offenders and a severity of the courts that will make an attempted escape a greater hazard than stopping after an accident to render assistance to the injured and face the consequences. For people who are actuated by fear make the consequences of abandoning a victim a cause for greater fear. Make it clear to the cunning that their greater advantage lies in admitting responsibility for the accident if the fault is theirs.

And the public can help abolish the hit-and-run driver by letting the motorist know that should he stop his machine he will not become the victim of mob violence.

He who keeps too many irons in the fire gets burned.

What's New?
Everything Is New
Nothing Is Old

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I meet you on the street. You give me your hand, and I give you mine. You ask, "What's new?" I can not answer. I mumble, "What's new? Why nothing at all—not a thing in the world."

How stupid of me to think, to say, to believe for one fleeting instant that there's nothing new in this world. Why, everything is new, and nothing has been before! Things seem to be old, but they are not really old, they are as new as tomorrow morning. . . . Habit and prejudice and boredom and bitterness, these may be old, but nothing that counts is old. Everything worth while is new and ever new.

What's newer than love? What's newer, even, than love that has lasted for years? Or the love of that young mother, over there, with a baby? Or that lad you see helping his girl across the street, as though she were fragile as any Dresden china shepherdess? What's newer, I ask?

What's newer than health? See that woman walking springily down the street—see that man with his shoulders back—see that youth catch that rushing street car? Nothing new? They are newer than dew.

Good appetite, that's new. A bird singing, he's new. Green grass on the hills, meeting the spring more than half way, that's new. An idea, a compliment, a smile, a dream, a hope, a vision, a laugh, a good book, a quiet sleep, a crackling fire, a friendly welcome, a pleasant memory, a running brook, a white-shining moon, the warming rays of the sun, a freshly baked loaf of bread, a juicy apple—the world's full of new things, fellow, but I couldn't think of one of them when you asked.

I was lazy. I was dull. I was thinking of old dilapidated things and had no time for truth. . . .

Ask me again next time you see me and I'll hold you fast and spin a yarn of new things—so long, so endless, so refreshing—that you'll gasp and wished you'd never asked me "What's new?"

What's new? You didn't know, I guess, that in this world there's hardly anything that's old!

CENTER YOUR EFFORTS

You are surprised by the ignorance, so far as general knowledge is concerned, of men who are prominent and leaders in their lines.

You boast that you have considerable knowledge of many things.

But what have you that permits you to stand out?

Less information at your tongue's end and more extensive experience based on facts in fewer lines might get you further.

To be leader in any certain endeavor means lifetime of study.

Then continued concentration to maintain a position of supremacy.

Most of your life you have scattered your efforts, your thought.

You have not scratched the surface of any of the subjects studied.

Thus you are far from being an expert and also far from the remuneration and success that an expert enjoys.

The young fellow starting out in life should first decide what he wants to and then aim at the target with a single purpose desire.

Also he must have the grit and courage to face many and bitter disappointments, in his struggle for supremacy in his particular line.

Be ready to take what comes, meantime study and work.

To be a great success you will have to center your efforts.

Roosevelt of New York, Al Smith and Mayor Walker of New York are planning to take over Washington and everything in the way of public life and the old folks live in bedlam and deny themselves in order to feed the progeny of ornery young males who are somewhere playing bachelor.

So this is inflation!

WE EXPECT TOO MUCH

The reason some of us are dissatisfied with the world's judgment of us is that we ask too much of the poor old world.

Longfellow put it this way: "We judge ourselves by what we feel capable of doing but others judge us by what we have already done."

Most disgruntled persons are victims of an egotism that is unsatisfying by the marks entered to their credit by the scorekeeper. They are like those baseball recruits from the bush leagues who think they are as good as Babe Ruth, and that if they got as many lucky breaks as the champion slugger they would eclipse his record. They save their pride by saying to themselves that they are not appreciated and not understood. Instead of playing ball the best they can each day, they save their strength for the grand occasion when they are at bat, two out, the score tied, and the bases full.

It is the noble duty of those in high positions to try to discover unexploited talent in young men and women. That such unexploited talent exists in thousands, if not millions, of people, is certain. The world being what it is, however, it is probably too much to expect that this talent will all be given an opportunity for complete expression.

What is the best way to solve this problem?

The sensible procedure is to make one's record creditable; in short, to do the immediate task as well as one can. An employer appraising his assistants may be more impressed by the habits and working methods of a young man than by the actual product of the youth's labor. The employee may be performing a trifling task, but if he is thorough, diligent, pleasant, and resourceful, the employer may decide that here is a rich vein of uncultivated ability.

A young man of equal or superior talent may persuade himself that the task to which he has been assigned is unworthy of serious attention. The employer will judge by what he sees, and his conclusion will obviously be unfavorable.

No advice for getting ahead is quite so useful as Longfellow's philosophic sentence. It would make an admirable foreword to a book on practical wisdom.

Some young men at twenty-five are more mature intellectually than the majority of men at fifty. They are often the bargains of the labor market.

British Adoption Of Tariff Interpreted In Many Ways

Americans Believe That One Possible Result May Be Development Of Definite System Of Trade With Other Parts Of Empire

Differing interpretations are placed by Americans on the British action in favor of a general 10 per cent tariff, to be effective on March 1, 1932. Some basic materials remain on the free list. Protectionists find in this action an argument for protection, while opponents of the present tariff in this country hold that Great Britain has been forced to act because of the American tariff. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that for the first time in generations England has accepted the theory of those who oppose its traditional policy of free trade.

"For the ultimate success of the new policy," in the opinion of the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, "much will depend on the extent to which the Dominions in the Imperial Conference, to be held at Ottawa in July, are found willing to subordinate the special interests of their respective Dominions to the economic solidarity of the Empire." Holding that this action constitutes "one of the most significant revolutions in world commerce of recent years," the ROANOKE TIMES states: "Great Britain holds two powerful weapons. One is the threat to impose a 100 per cent tariff in cases of discrimination against British products in the world markets. The other is that she definitely takes precedence in the Dominion trade, and gives impetus to a new spirit of Empire unity. Inter-Dominion commerce may prove a severe blow to other nations which heretofore have carried on extensive trade with the Dominions."

"If this new tariff helps to balance the government's books, and sets more of the dele beneficiaries to earning wages," according to the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS "it will improve the buying power of the British market. That is what will help producers in the United States and Canada far more than will the maintenance of a free market in a country where fewer people each year have money with which to buy anything." The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW declares that one effect of the British action is that "the long-standing free-trade policy of the Democratic party in the United States went overboard," and that it shows that "other countries, including even Great Britain, are putting their tariff bars higher to increase employment for their people."

"That the law is a step in the direction of a general protective policy," thinks the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "is not to be denied, but it should not be forgotten that the consequences within England have chiefly actuated British politicians. Firstly, the budget has to be balanced. Secondly, a masterful program of road building, slum rehabilitation, drainage projects, and other means of creating employment and making a more efficient state for the future is advocated by aggressive Britons, and the tariff will pay for these at the same time that it will permit a lightening of the tremendous burden on British industry. The Atlanta paper believes that "America may congratulate herself that Britain has not chosen to shut out our goods, and may reflect upon the period of grace we are thus granted."

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is quoted by the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL as stating that "foreign nations are raising up tariffs against American products in retaliation for the American tariff," and that "such a course by the rest of the world is ever narrowing the market for the products of this country." The ASBURY PARK PRESS points out that "the few industries that were able to have erected plants on foreign soil to avoid the tariff walls which other nations have established to retaliate against us." On this situation the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN comments: "In Canada alone, for example, there are now 524 industrial establishments which are branch factories of American concerns. In Europe there are 453 others. Thus, the establishment of the new British tariff will not prevent the sale of American goods in the empire; it will merely prevent the making of these goods by American workmen. That is to say, the tariff will not take the profit away, but it will take the jobs." The CHATTANOOGA TIMES attests the existence of a condition, already under way, by which American branch factories in Great Britain cause "unemployment in the United States."

"The world is already tariff-mad," says the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, holding that the British action "would not have been necessary, had not the tariff war of other nations reached its present stage." The YAKIMA MORNING HERALD agrees that "the British action in self-defense," the SCRANTON TIMES feels that they "scratched the example of practically all other nations," and the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR points out that they are "following this country's policy, even to the creation of a tariff commission with power to levy additional duties."

"The whole thing is frankly tentative and experimental," says the NASHVILLE BANNER, with the conclusion that "it is to be expected that more than one general election will be fought out before Great Britain is anywhere near settled in its own mind on that subject."

Observing that "protection to home industry is the national policy of every large industrial nation in the world," the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE observes that "British industry in general has progressively lost ground under the free-trade system" but points out that "for a century free-trade had almost a religious fervor in Great Britain. . . . it carried the mark of the covenant, the sacred principle of trade which was, in the British mind, treason to the welfare of the nation."

From Lincoln, Nebraska, a correspondent of the Wall Street Journal writes a letter about Railroads. I quote from the letter. It is a gem. And remember, George Norris represents the State of Nebraska in the United States Senate:

When things are too high we must bring them down until the man with money feels he is getting something for the money he spends; then he buys. Rail

Discourage U.S. Airmen Hoping To Get In War

Chinese Deny Advertising For Fliers To Help Fight Japanese

MANY U. S. AIRMEN REACH SHANGHAI

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
International News Service Special Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—American air pilots lured to Shanghai for adventure and the dream of receiving large sums to fly planes in the Sino-Japanese conflict today were advised to return home by American Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham.

Cunningham said everything possible will be done to prevent American flyers from participating in the fighting.

During the past month a number of flyers have come to Shanghai from the United States expecting to land highly remunerative jobs with the Chinese air force.

Were Unsolicited. The men came on reading advertisements appearing in newspapers of the United States and on seeing posters said to have been displayed in America.

Efforts of the American consulate to trace the source of the advertisements have been fruitless. The Chinese Nationalist government at Nanking denied knowledge of them.

As a result, many American flyers now are here, broke, and are seeking odd jobs of any sort for a living and trying to work their way back home on ships.

Hundreds Weigh Selves Every Day

Free Weighing Machine In Washington Street Still Popular

Hundreds of persons weigh themselves every day on a free weighing machine in East Washington street, and if the total number of persons weighed could be ascertained it would show a stupendous figure during a year.

Although women are supposed to be more careful about their weight than men the fact remains that as many men weigh themselves as do women on the scales.

"Be jubilant over the first break that cotton has received since somebody discovered some value in the seed."

Directing attention to the fact that "Empire free trade" is for the time being partly a fact, the NEW-ARK EVENING NEWS concludes: "If the British Commonwealth can maintain free trade within itself it will help immeasurably the argument of Sir Herbert Samuel, the free trade Secretary of State for Home Affairs, who speaks for customs unions and the abolition of tariffs by mutual consent. To such agreements the nations will eventually come, although none may dare prophesy the date any more than to

Catarrh Causes Head Noises and Deafness

This Method Opens Clogged Nostrils and Relieves Catarrhal Deafness

Few people realize what a serious disease catarrh really is. Deafness and head noises that drive the sufferer nearly frantic are frequently due to this complaint. Unchecked, this disgusting, dangerous ailment often destroys smell, taste and hearing, slowly undermining the general health. Its neglect may make you a worn-out catarrhal wreck. As catarrh is a disease of the blood, the only real relief comes from treating the blood itself. So go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's Cut Rate, or your druggist for an ounce of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day. Drive the catarrhal poisons from the system by treating the blood, and the disease itself must vanish. Parmit has been proved successful in so many cases because it acts directly on the blood and mucous membrane. Life will be much more worth living if you can breathe freely, again hear plainly, smell, taste, and arise with head and throat free from phlegm. For your own sake give Parmit a trial—and with your whole system crying for relief from catarrh you should start Parmit treatment now.

foretell the year when all instruments of war shall be laid aside. Just as armaments have never insured peace, usually brought war, so prosperity has never been achieved through high tariffs. But the governments are not yet ready to lay either aside."

My New York

by JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A harassed newspaperman from one of the tabloids was trekking through the Grand Central with me the other afternoon. He stopped to buy a paper at one of the stands which dot the station.

"Has the bulldog on the Mirror come in yet?" he asked using the city room term which designates the first edition of a sheet to go on the street.

The news seller, in that spot for years, looked blank. "I don't follow them prize contests" he said finally.

No reason of course, why a news dealer should speak the newspaper lingo. And yet, between two businesses so closely linked, you'd think the bond of language would grow up. All radio salesmen know what remote control is, and movie exhibitors chatter glibly of iris-ins and dissolves.

THIS CRAZY TOWN

"A good idea can sell anything" the go-getters shout, and maybe they're right. There was no reason why the bright new apartments in the Town House, smart apartment building off Park avenue, shouldn't have rented in the first place, but they didn't. Then the management hit on the idea of naming each cozy suite—so instead of "four rooms and bath" the advertisements offered "Harry" and "Theodore" and "Percival". There was a rush to rent.

My mail continues to be flooded with demands for the solution of that monkey problem until I flounder a bit in my sleep and peer into the mirror doubtfully four or five times daily. A fat missive, too, from Al Jackson, act writer of talkie dialogue and idea man for Columbia pictures—one of those lightning Edgar Wallaces who knocks off 20,000 words in an evening, goes to a show, plays several rubbers of bridge and gets to bed by one.

Music, big music, that appears to be booming. A Lily Pons Club has been formed, the first fan group of the kind to be organized since the days of the "Gerry-Flappers" girls who adored Geraldine Farrar. And Paderewski gated a net of $25,000 in his Madison Square Garden unemployment benefit.

TENSION BROKEN

When the stock market began to soar not long ago the environs of Wall street, at once, the grandest and the gloomiest architectural glut this side of the Guiana jungles, changed in a flash. The atmosphere was more excited than at any time since the dark drama of the crash. The canyons seemed to stretch and awake.

Chancing into the office of a broker friend, I came upon a fantastic scene. He was seated on a stool in the rear of a crowded office, a cocktail shaker in one hand, the sliding reel of a tape ticker in the other.

"Couldn't shiand it!" he murmured. When tension broke to relax. And as I left I noticed an ancient negro janitor polishing up the sil-verfitted ash trays of a long deserted adjoining room—the ladies' salon, where they could watch market quotations on a large, decorative board without the encumbrance of hubby's presence.

RESORTS DE LUX

Word comes from Florida of the newest wrinkle in pleasure places—the club merger. N. B. T. Roney and H. L. Doherty, of Cities Service have sprung a three-in-one combination whereby bored playboys and girls drop in, say, at the very high-hat Cabana Club of Miami Beach; later in the evening they give the word and are whisked away in soft-cushioned air liners to the Miami Biltmore Country club, at Coral Gables, or to the super-exclusive Key Largo Angler's club, at Key Largo.

Key Largo, by the way, is the erstwhile hangout of the bloodthirsty Black Caesar, pirate terror of the Gulf states.

The whole arrangement has about it an aura of prodigious wealth and luxury so fantastic that the movie sets of Mr. Cecil De Mille become by comparison the imaginings of pikers.

Face Danger Of Accident, Suit

Autoists Along Highways Abandoning Practice Of Giving "Lifts"

Motorists who stop their automobiles and pick up passengers take upon themselves a big risk, according to T. C. Moore, superintendent of the New Castle Street Railway company.

They may become involved in legal entanglements should accidents occur, according to the street car official. He pointed out that many motorists have been sued by "guest riders."

It has been noticed of late that very few persons who operate machines along highways stop to pick up persons thumbing rides to points along the highways.

In all of the larger cities robberies have occurred as the result of some motorists' desire to aid persons in reaching a destination and thumbing generally now does not meet with approval.

When the white house was provided for in the original design of the city it was known as The Palace.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

No "Nerves" At Recital By Children

Good Mental Hygiene Rules Youth's Program

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

I recently attended a recital by piano pupils put on by a local conservatory of music. It was staged in a large room of a home. A dozen children participated. Parents attended. Everything was informal. There was no printed program. Each child was quietly called upon in apparently random fashion, though it was learned that those with least skill came first and each succeeding one in order of attainment. Excellent psychology for performers and listeners, as you can see. The younger and less skilled pupils had the opportunity to hear and see the older and more skilled performers.

Each child, when called upon, announced his own number or numbers, in an informal fashion. Obviously the audience was entirely sympathetic and helpful to the performers.

One participant later observed that the older pupils got as loud applause as the younger, "while at school or church performances the little kids get so much applause that they are frightened."

The whole setting was one of good mental hygiene. The children seemed to enjoy the experience and they doubtless were greatly stimulated in their music work, knowing that their achievements were growing good enough for the enjoyment of others. Each child played from memory. Practically no noticeable errors were made, no parts forgot. There was no evidence of stage fright. Each pupil had a selection easy enough for him to do well. Some were indeed very, very simple. Also each performer had been well prepared by his teacher in his regular "lessons" so that his success could be assumed. All these factors which are fundamentals for good progress and good mental hygiene were carefully planned and thought through by the music teachers and the parents of their children are committed to the principle of accurate mastery of each step before the next is taken and, therefore, all practice during the first year at least with the teacher. Be it added, furthermore, that these piano teachers had constantly attempted to cultivate a calm and satisfying atmosphere during the pupils' "lessons."

The following letter came from no less important personage than Margaret Wheeler Ross, author of that splendid little book, "Musical Message for Mothers" (Carl Fisher, N. Y., Publisher). She also conducted for a number of years a department called "Music Education in the Home."

"Dear Doctor Myers: I was keenly interested in your syndicated article 'Tots Should Listen to Good Music.' I liked it for two reasons: First, you conceded to music a legitimate place in the general educational scheme. Second: You were brave, and honest enough to admit your own deficiency in the subject, and further to 'tell the world' that you were now making an effort to master this important phase of education, and to emphasize the joy it was bringing into your life.

"For many years I have preached, and written, on the value of music study for every child. Far too many of our prominent educators, who missed music training in early life, nurture the same 'sneaking satisfaction' in their ignorance that you confess, and refuse to recognize the mental stimulus, and broadening culture that results from music study.

"It is indeed gratifying to the music professor to find an educator of your prominence supporting their case. From the bottom of my heart I thank you for 'them kind words.'"

Answer: Thank you, Miss Ross.

Plaintiff Wins In Suit Over Seats

Verdict In Favor Of American Seating Company For $2,-691.37 Is Returned

In the case of the American Seating Company against Annie P. Murdoch, Catherine Patterson, Minnie McCandless, W. H. Patterson and Rachael Patterson, the jury on Wednesday afternoon brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2,691.37.

The suit was over 426 seats purchased for the Victor Theatre by Max Cransfield and T. B. Connor, who had leased the theatre room from the defendants. The seats were bought on a bailment contract, and when the lessees fell back three months in their rent, the seats with other paraphernalia, were seized by the defendants on a landlord's warrant.

The claim of the American Seating Company was for $3,823.98. When the defendants seized the place they brought suit for the entire amount called for by the lease. The rent was at the rate of $400 per month.

The case which was tried before Judge James A. Chambers, went to the jury Wednesday morning.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

The name of the Hon. Aaron Lyle Hazen is associated with much that is important in the history of New Castle and Lawrence county. He was born February 19, 1837, the son of Henry and Sarah Warnock Hazen. He traced his lineage through seven generations to Edward Hazen, a native of England, who emigrated to America and was a resident of Rowley, Mass., as early as 1649. He was educated in the district schools of this county and in Beaver Academy at Beaver, Pa., and Jefferson College at Canonsburg, Pa., where he graduated in the class of 1861. He was in the last term of his senior year at Jefferson College, when Fort Sumpter was fired upon. He immediately returned home and enlisted as a private, April 19, 1861 in Company H, Twelfth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, served with his regiment in Maryland and was mustered out August 16, 1861. Being unfit for further active service, he was refused re-enlistment. He served thereafter as paymaster's clerk until December, 1863 in the pay district of the Cumberland, Louisville, Ky., except when he served as captain of Company A, Fourteenth Regiment State Militia, which was called into active service and served in Maryland during September, 1862. From January 1, 1864, he served as teller in the United States Depository, Louisville, Ky., until the close of the war. He pursued the study of law in his senior year at Jefferson College and was also registered as a law student with Johnston & Dana in this city. He was admitted to the bar of Lawrence county September 12, 1865. Outings At Park In Booking Stage

American Bridge, City's Merchants Plan Vists: Booking Others

Picnic time this summer will likely see Cascade park match its busiest entertainment peak of several seasons or at least Manager Carl Shaner's pre-season booking activities furnish optimistic signs like that.

The amusement park head, following several picnic conferences yesterday, reported that "picnic dates for the coming summer are now in the selection process."

Manager Shaner said that nearly 8,000 persons, or a number approximating that, will be guests of the park when the American Bridge company, Ambridge, holds its outing here on August 6. Another big date already reserved is July 20, when New Castle's merchants will picnic at the park. The latter date is tentative.

"Cascade this year will have the advantage of railroad service direct to the park grounds," continued Mr. Shaner. "We're planning to book more outings for the summer."

Numerous smaller picnics have been dated for the vacation period, the park director said.

Attorney General Schnader Turns Down Offer To Become Justice

TALBOT BILL KEEPS SCHNADER ACTIVE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Attorney General William A. Schnader has declined a place on the supreme court bench offered him by Gov. Gifford Pinchot, it was disclosed today as the executive explained the delay in appointing a successor to the late Justice Emory A. Walling of Erie.

Although Governor Pinchot has made repeated offers to Attorney General Schnader since December 30, when Justice Walling died, they had been refused because of pending state litigation, the attorney revealed in a letter to the executive now made public.

Schnader Refuses. Chief among the reasons which prompted Schnader to retain his post as attorney general is the $10,000,000 Talbot relief act which will soon come before the supreme court, he wrote.

Schnader's final decision was reached last January 26, the letter revealed, but Governor Pinchot held the post open believing that the attorney general would finally accept.

Confirmation of Schnader's rejection of the proffered office again brought to the fore the names of Judge William B. Linn of superior court and Judge William M. Parker of Venango county.

Club Bar Raided By Federal Men

Big Haul Made In "Sachsenheim" Club At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 18.—John Wellman, alleged bartender at the "Sachsenheim" which was raided last evening by federal prohibition agents, is free today under $2,000 bond, awaiting hearing February 24. The raiders reported that they found 523 quarts of home brew, 267 pints of beer, 60 gallons of beer and 50 gallons of wine. They also seized and sent to a storage house a 42-foot bar and tables and chairs which furnished the bar room. The club is a fraternal organization with a large membership. Anyone was admitted to the building but only those whom the bartender knew were served.

Wellman is charged with manufacturing and possessing liquor, nuisance, and conspiracy with officials of the club to violate the national prohibition law.

MARSHALL HOLDS 3 WOMEN FOR TRIALS

Helen Sweeney And Two Others Get Hearings—State Police Testify

Following the recent activity of first ward constables, city, county and even state police, three women, one charged with keeping a disorderly house and two others charged with inmates and frequenters of the place, were held for court trials yesterday afternoon by Alderman W. E. Marshall after over a score of witnesses had presented testimony.

Those held for the March term of county court were Helen Sweeney, charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house on South Jefferson street; Mae Waite, rear of Moravia street, and Elizabeth Kimmel, also rear of Moravia street.

The arrest of the three on January 29 in a frame building on South Jefferson street was made by Constable James Ellison of the first ward, Constable Tom O'Brien of Union township and city police who assisted.

At the time of the raid, according to the statement of the constables, nine men found in the house were also arrested. One of the visitors in the house, who was arrested, Constable Ellison declared, was a constable from Campbell, O.

Helen Sweeney was released after the hearing yesterday when $1,500 bond was furnished.

Bond was also presented for Elizabeth Kimmel to assure her appearance when her case comes up in court. Mae Waite is still being held in county jail.

Among the witnesses who appeared against the women who were charged with the offenses in information sworn to before Marshall by County Detective H. Martin Lee, were John McEwen and G. E. Abbott of the Butler state police barracks. The state police had conducted an investigation into the case of the women, authorities here reported.

High School Band Program Friday

Concert To Be Given—Movies Will Also Be Shown

NATIONAL BAND CONTEST ON SCREEN

Between football seasons, many of us are prone to forget the fact that New Castle Senior high school band exists. When the days are snappy and the football microphone is in the air, the band is one of the colorful spectacles that makes football the drawing card it is.

Then, we see the band every Saturday and our pulses warm to the rhythmic cadences sent up from the northeast corner of the football field. Football done, many of us forget we have a band, although the winter months see the players more proficient by far than they are in the fall.

Picture and Music. We cannot afford to forget the Senior High School band, and with this in mind, an unusual entertainment feature has been secured for Friday evening, February 19. The picture reel showing the National High School band contest in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 1931, will be shown and the band will present a concert of stirring numbers.

The 1923 New Castle Senior High school band finished fourth in the national contest held in Chicago, Ill. The achievements of that band have been held up since then as an example of what can be done. This year's band is a good one, more polished than it was during the football season and worthy of a crowd Friday evening, February 19. The picture shows in detail the band contest in Tulsa, with closeups of John Philip Sousa who was there and the many Indian braves who attended in costume.

There will be no admission, the idea of the picture and concert is to center some attention upon the band, to make what the title of the picture implies "Make America Musical." Joe Replage director of the band will be in charge and will present the following program:

Light Cavalry Overture—Supper—High School Band
"Making America Musical"—First Reel
The Rider's Quartet—Haydn—High School String Quartet
Dream of Love—Liszt—High school Brass Quartet and Piano
Danse Humoresque—Hunt—High School Wood Wind Quintet
"Pomp and Circumstance"—Tuba Solo with band accompaniment
"Making America Musical"—Second Reel.

Negro Women Face Firearms Violation

Charges Are Made Against Them Before Alderman Richard R. Lewis

Following a hearing held last night by Mayor Chas. B. Mayne in the case of Bessie Walker, negro, arrested yesterday by Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch, while hunting Marjorie Campbell, negro, with a revolver, Lewis was held for Alderman Richard R. Lewis on a charge of surety of peace and violation of the Firearms Act. Marjorie Campbell arrested at the same time was discharged. As a result of testimony produced, Bessie English, negro, was also arrested and held for Alderman Lewis on a charge of accessory and violation of the firearms act, because it was shown that she had loaned the revolver to Bessie Walker, which the latter was trying to use on Marjorie Campbell.

Bessie English and Bessie Walker were this morning taken before Alderman Lewis, who remanded them to the county jail in default of bail for hearing to be held Friday afternoon, that of Bessie Walker to be between 2 and 3 p. m. and that of Bessie English between 4 and 5 p. m.

Salesman Arrested When Without Permit

One Of The Men Arrested Is Making His Second Appearance Here

Wayne Bonnet and Leonard Stouffer of Youngstown, salesmen for a company, which asserts that ten per cent of its cost goes to the maintenance of an orphanage, were apprehended Wednesday afternoon by Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch on Crawford avenue, while soliciting orders, without securing a permit from the city authorities. They were held in the city jail until today, when they were given an opportunity of attempting to secure $25 cash bond each for their appearance at a hearing before Mayor Charles B. Mayne next Tuesday, February 23, at 2 o'clock. They were still awaiting funds to secure the release this morning.

Says Executors Do Not Handle Estate Properly

Removal Of John W. And William H. Wilkins Is Asked In Court Petition

Mrs. Maude Ward, one of the heirs to the estate of the late John Wilkins, presented a petition in court this morning, asking for a citation on decedent's sons, John W. Wilkins and William H. Wilkins, to show cause why they should not be removed as executors of the estate.

It is alleged that the will of the late John Wilkins set forth, among other things, that the share of William H. Wilkins, one of the executors and Albert F. Wilkins, was subject to deduction of $1000 each for money advanced by the decedent to help them in business, and also that they were to assume a mortgage on decedent's home on Croton Avenue, as the money represented by it was borrowed for them.

The executors filed a partial account in March, 1931, and exceptions having been filed by the plaintiff, Richard F. Dana, was appointed auditor. In the opinion of the plaintiff evidence produced before the auditor, was sufficient to justify the dismissal of the executors.

It appeared at the hearing that the executors had attempted to claim credits for $1,850, which they paid to William H. Wilkins and Albert Wilkins in the name of Wilkins Bros. under the guise of loans. It is also alleged that the executors have permitted payments on the mortgage on the Croton Avenue property to become in default for thirteen months.

It is also claimed that a suit was brought by the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company against William and Albert and the estate of the decedent and a judgment recovered on which there is now owing $1900. It is claimed that this is the debt of William and Albert and not of John Wilkins, the decedent.

Instead of paying the debts of the estate out of the funds in their hands for that purpose, it is alleged that the executors made the so called loans to Wilkins Bros. of $1,850, and attempted to claim same as credit in the first partial account.

It is further alleged that $500 was distributed to legatees. There also appears on the record of the probatory a judgment in the sum of $800, wherein John Wilkins, deceased, is plaintiff and A. R. Watson, defendant. At the hearing before the auditor William H. Wilkins, it is alleged testified that he had declined to place this judgment among the assets of the estate, claiming that the money represented by the judgment belonged to him.

By distributing money of the estate, making unauthorized loans, and failing to keep up the payments on the mortgage on the Croton Ave. property, it is alleged that the executors have jeopardized the estate. The removal and the appointment of others is asked. Judge James A. Chambers awarded a citation, returnable on the first Monday of March.

PHILADELPHIAN IN CONFERENCE WITH SCOUTERS

Regional Deputy Meets Leaders Last Night; Councilmen Tonight

Scout leaders of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council had one of the best get-togethers in council history last night when they gathered to hear Major D. G. Van De Boe, deputy regional executive of Region three, tell how scouting will shape up in the future; explain ways of securing new leadership; patrol method technique and much other work of a nature helpful to troop leaders. A number of other leaders could not be on hand, but those who were there will not forget the work that was presented.

The discussion on the new method of patrol cooking was particularly interesting to all leaders, and many questions were asked about it. There will be a number of troops trying out these stunts in the near future on the hikes.

The general plan of the scoutmaster for his troop's program in teaching tests by games, was also brought out. The leaders stayed until a late hour and certainly profited by the regional leader's forceful exposition of the scout program as it can be applied today.

Council Confab Tonight
New council committee officials as appointed by Council President Round are being asked to meet at the chamber of commerce tonight at 7:45 o'clock sharp to meet Mr. Van De Boe and get from him the most up-to-date information on the plans of council administration and procedure as developed to date. As Mr. Van De Boe has only recently returned from the National Training school he will bring with him the latest thought in these lines, and the council officers feel themselves fortunate in being able to have him just at this time when the 1932 staff is taking up its plans and programs.

Members comprising this, include C. P. Cloak and two men from Ellwood City; the president, vice-president, treasurer, recording secretary, commissioner and district commissioner, and the heads of the various council committees. Rev. G. S. Bennett, Rex Patch, R. L. Boyd, Charles Metzler, Rev. A. M. Stump, Rev. Philip Pearson, William Toner, Bernard Hook, Harold McCulloch and L. M. Buchanan.

Mr. Van De Boe was in Ellwood City this noon, meeting men of that community and sizing up the work generally. This afternoon he is speaking to the assembly at the George Washington Junior high school, and if weather permits, will leave for Butler tonight.

Japanese Inform League They Are Not Aggressors

Japan. Willing. To. End Shanghai Warfare If Chinese Will Withdraw

JAPS HOPE FOR PEACE QUICKLY

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 18. (A. M.)—The Japanese reply to the League of Nations council communication, drafted late Wednesday night, bluntly informs the council that its action in invoking article 10 of the League covenant, and calling attention to the nine-power Pacific Pact and the Kellogg Treaty, "was improper."

This was learned by International News Service early today, a few hours after Kenkichi Yoshisawa, foreign minister, had received from Naotake Sato, Japanese delegate at Geneva, the text of the note sent by the League of Nations council of twelve.

Point By Point
The Japanese reply, it was learned, takes up the council's note point by point, as follows:

Firstly, from the beginning of the Shanghai incident Japan conducted no action infringing upon the territorial and political integrity of China and intends no such action in the future.

Secondly, Japanese military action in Shanghai was solely for protection and was rendered necessary by chaotic conditions.

Thirdly, in the event Chinese troops withdraw from Shanghai, Japan undertakes not to attack unnecessarily, nor to occupy Chinese land indefinitely or to seek monopolistic privileges.

Fourthly, in the case of Chinese withdrawal, Japan intends to withdraw.

draw her troops to the borders of the international settlement and hopes for peaceful solution of the problem equally as much as the other powers.

Fifthly, the foregoing proves that Japan has not violated article X of the League covenant, the Kellogg Pact or the nine-power treaty, for which reason invocation of these international undertakings is considered improper.

Ask Explanation
The British and French Ambassadors called upon Yoshisawa late last night and requested an explanation of the ultimatum to be handed to Chinese military leaders by General Uryeda, Japanese infantry commander in Shanghai.

The ultimatum, which will be delivered tomorrow, demands that Chinese troops begin withdrawing twelve and one-half miles from Shanghai within twenty-four hours and that the withdrawal be completed within 48 hours. It also demands removal of Chinese artillery and disarming of all Chinese troops in the area involved.

Crippled Newsboy Hopes For Cure At Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Funds Come In Very Slowly To Enable Him To Seek Chance Of Better Health

Recently an appeal was made in behalf of Clarence Ferre, crippled newsboy, who sells newspapers and magazines at the city building corner, that he might have the opportunity of seeking a cure from his present condition at the baths of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

He feels that if he could just get there that he would receive much benefit, in fact he even hopes that he may even be able to do a little walking again, if he could go there. Those who are interested in helping him make the effort to get well, can make their donations direct to Clarence as he sits in his wheeled chair at the city building corner. He has so far received a few dollars, but it will take many more to make the trip to possible health.

COLDS

Break Up in a Jiffy
This Quick Way

Feel Like A New Man Almost Before You Know It

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching goes—your back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well: to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

Parents Should Warn Children

Roller Skaters Hang To Speeding Automobiles, Mayor Reports

Mayor Charles B. Mayne said today he would like to have the cooperation of parents residing in the Delaware-Moody avenue district in an effort to prevent probable injury, perhaps fatalities, in the district.

He said he had been informed that children on roller skates were making a practice of catching onto the spare tire or bumper or automobiles at the stop signs.

The automobiles speed along the thoroughfare with the small children hanging on. "It is a dangerous practice and I believe parents should order their children to stop doing this."

Police To Watch For Boys Who Ride On Rear End Of Street Cars

Boys who persist in riding on the rear end of street cars and others who exult in "yanking trolleys" are due for a big surprise, according to Mayor Charles B. Mayne.

The police are going to try and stop the dangerous practice. A slip the car may mean a fracture or the loss of a leg.

Some of the boys practice riding the rear end of cars going to and coming from school and not all of the boys are small either.

Only Highest Type Enlisted In Navy

Must Have Education, Pass Intelligence Test, Give References

"Only the highest type of Young America is enlisted in the United States navy," said Chief Boatswain Fred Allison, recruiter on duty at the city hall station when questioned about navy enlistments.

"During the past five months I have received 200 applications at the city hall station but due to the fact that the quota has been cut down, not many succeeded in enlisting. In fact," said Allison, "only 10 were accepted."

The main reason at this time for so many young men desiring to list is due to the economic situation and then again there are quite a few who have a natural "hankering" to follow the sea.

The main requirements prescribed by the Navy is that the applicant must have a fairly good education, pass an intelligence test and must be sound physically and morally. The recruiter said that an applicant must furnish six good references.

RETIREMENT FUND
DOES GOOD WORK

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Assertions made in a magazine article that taxpayers were unduly burdened because the commonwealth was "forced" to pour millions of dollars into the school employees' retirement fund drew sharp retorts today from education officials.

H. H. Baish, fund secretary, in an exclusive interview branded as "downright foolish" the statements appearing in "Right of Way," organ of the Pennsylvania Threshermen & Farmers' Protective association.

Baish, through whose hands pass yearly the income and collections of the fund, totaling about $10,000,000, charged "falsehoods" against the publication and termed its stand "inconsistent."

Bonds Purchased.
He pointed out the fund within the past year has purchased $18,000,000 worth of school bonds from rural districts throughout the state. Ninety per cent of these funds, he said, were used to finance construction projects in districts where economic distress is particularly acute among the farm population.

Meanwhile, officials of the Pennsylvania State Education association took occasion to assert that the 75,000 teachers, whose interests the fund was designed to safeguard, were forced to "buy back their jobs" through "voluntary wage refunds."

It was intimated at state headquarters of the association here that financially harassed districts resorted to duress tactics to obtain rebates recently. Teachers in the anthracite and bituminous regions and in small communities surrounding large population centers, were teaching unpaid in many instances because of lack of funds, headquarters attaches declared.

United States May Ask Japanese Pay Property Damages

U. S. Government Seriously
Considering Holding Japanese As Responsible

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The United States government is seriously considering the question of holding Japan legally responsible for damage to American life or property in Shanghai, it was stated on responsible authority Wednesday. Property damage in Shanghai has been numerous and foreign property, including American, has suffered along with the rest.

No note has been drafted for dispatch to Japan on the subject, and none is in the course of preparation for the present. As yet no formal representations have been made either at Tokio or to the Japanese ambassador, Katsuj Debuchi, in Washington.

Administration officials expressed the belief that Debuchi's cable to the foreign office in Tokio stating that Stimson was preparing a note on the subject, was based upon a misunderstanding of an informal talk between Stimson and Debuchi on Monday.

Motormen Like To Play Checkers

Although there are not many spare minutes in the lives of street car operatives, every now and then they enjoy a few minutes and when this occurs and they are at the employees waiting room on South Beaver street, checkers become the diversion.

According to reports, there are some rather good checker players among the street car operatives, the particularly good players being "Bill" Reed, Ed Fink, Tom Moore and Harry McConnell.

"Whipping" Case Given Attention

New Jersey Citizens Up In Arms Over "Spanking" Of Bad Boys

ACTION MAY BE TAKEN TODAY

(International News Service) WOODBURY, N. J., Feb. 18.—Public indignation over the whipping of three mischievous boys by order of police recorder Frank L. Johnson continued to rise today with indications pointing to an investigation by city council.

The youths are Norman Redfield, 15; William Elliott, 12, and Franklin Heiser, 16. They were charged by a theatre manager with annoying patrons by slamming theatre doors.

The boys were lashed publicly in Johnson's court by a 250-pound police sergeant wielding a heavy belt. Pending arrival of young Redfield's father, a pullman conductor, from St. Louis, parents of the other two boys said they would withhold decision on possible court procedure.

Foolish Move

John S. Twells, president of city council, said:

"I think Recorder Johnson did a foolish thing. I will confer with my colleagues in council regarding any action that may be necessary.

Recorder Johnson defined his action with the statement he believed chastising the youths would be better than holding them for court with the possibility they might later be sent to a correctional institution.

Promise Arrests In Home Bombing

Erie Man Unable To Give Motive For Attempt To Dynamite His Home

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Denying reports of a gang war, police today promised arrests in the attempted bombing of the home of Angelo Gori.

Gori found two dynamite bombs, with burning fuses, near his home Monday night. He extinguished the fuses, hurled the bombs into an adjacent field and then called police.

Police Sergeant Louis Scialie, assigned to the case, declared arrests were pending. He said Gori could give no motive for the attempted outrage.

There was a feeling of uneasiness at the city hall yesterday as the two infernal machines were being held as evidence in the basement of the structure. Police Chief Detzel ordered the bombs to be removed from the building.

New Castle Woman Located In China

While she is not in the war area of China, a New Castle girl, Mrs. Arthur E. French, formerly Miss Evelyn Winger, is close enough to keep in touch with the developments. With her husband, Rev. Arthur E. French, Mrs. French is located at Nodda, Hainan Island, South China, which is located south-east of Shanghai.

Rev. and Mrs. French have been on Hainan Island for nearly two years going there under the auspices of the Presbyterian Board of Missions. Two months ago a son, Arthur 3rd was born to Rev. and Mrs. French and the probabilities are that it will be several years before the young man sees his grandparents here. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winger, 912 McCleary avenue.

Large Population

Hainan Island is about the size of the state of New Jersey and contains approximately 1,000,000 people. It is governed by a ruling officer appointed by the Chinese authorities and the church to which Rev. French is attached is a large one. The island is in the tropics and is not such a long distance from the Philippine Islands.

Learning the language is one of the difficulties of a missionary there as there are many different dialects, so many in fact that natives of one part of the island can not converse with natives in other parts.

Both Rev. and Mrs. French are graduates of Westminster College and another graduate of Westminster on the same island is Orville Mirtz formerly a well known athlete wearing the Blue and White.

The cause of the trouble with Japan have spread to the island in which Rev. and Mrs. French are located. Japanese goods are black-listed and school children on the island were required to write ten letters to friends, urging them to refuse to buy Japanese made goods. Merchants with Japanese goods on the shelves have them all marked and have refused to re-order. Because the authorities were afraid of an outbreak among the students the Christmas vacation was refused.

Several years ago when conditions were somewhat the same as they are now, the students were the cause of trouble which ended in gun fire from a battleship outside.

In letters to Mr. and Mrs. Winger, Mrs. French says they are delighted with the climate and the work and that for the present at least they are far away from the war zone.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Splendid Concert Christian Church Tomorrow Evening

Colored Singers To Appear Here; Banquet For Young People Is Postponed

Trained and talented singers will give a program at 8 o'clock Friday night that promises to be a high spot in New Castle musical presentations and without an equal in many months. The concert will be given by the Miniature Choral Society of colored singers with selections by two special quartets of men and women, in the auditorium of the Madison Avenue Christian church.

It is announced today by Rev. W. W. Sniff, pastor of the church, that the Young Peoples' Banquet which was to have been an event also of Friday evening, has been postponed until a later date. But the main part of the evening's program, the concert, will be presented as previously announced.

The public is given a cordial invitation to attend the concert, and it is free of charge for all.

A varied program of spirituals and patriotic selections will be given. It is truly an outstanding occasion and worthy of a full house.

Remember the time, tomorrow night, 8 o'clock at the Madison Avenue Christian Church.

Library Makes Circulation Gain

The Mahoningtown library was used decidedly more in the year 1931 than in 1930, according to the annual report just submitted by the city librarian, Miss Alice Sterling.

The year's circulation was 37,055.

LIBRARY DAY

The Mahoning branch of the New Castle library is open today and will not be open again until Thursday, February 26, because Washington's birthday falls on Monday, the usual library day. Because of this fact this afternoon's circulation has proven unusually heavy.

Merchant Faces Contempt Charge In Court At Erie

Allege That Erie Merchant Attempted To Fix Juror In Arson Case

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Fred Meiser, prominent Erie merchant, today faced possible contempt of court charges as an aftermath of an alleged attempt to "fix" a jury hearing the arson trial of three men.

Meiser has been cited by Judge William E. Hirt to show cause why he should not be named in formal charges of contempt of court.

Thomas Hughes, a juror, reported to Judge Hirt that Meiser allegedly asked him to be lenient toward Frank Girardot, one of the three accused men.

Girardot, Louis Kaufman and Henry Cornell are on trial on arson conspiracy charges in connection with an alleged plot to defraud insurance companies. Kaufman and Cornell have been convicted of one charge and are already serving penitentiary terms.

The same jury which freed Girardot at a first trial convicted Kaufman and Cornell.

Parents-Teachers Confer Wednesday

Meeting Of Unusual Interest To Workers And Pupils In Third Church School

The quarterly teachers' and officers' conference of the Sunday school of the Third United Presbyterian church was held Wednesday evening in the church and was of unusual interest as it took the form of a parent-teachers' meeting. G. H. Coland, superintendent of the school presided and "What I expect as a parent of the Bible school teacher teaching my child," was discussed by Mrs. Floyd Moore; "Lesson preparation, and memory work—their benefit, and who is responsible for them" was taken up by Mrs. Albert Theophilus; "What I expect as a teacher, of the parent of the child I teach," was given by Rev. S. B. Copeland; "Reaction of the Bible school training in the lives of my children," was discussed by Roy McCown; "The parents' obligation and example in influencing church attendance," W. W. McMillan; "Regularity and punctuality in attendance," W. M. Schoenfeld; and "Bible school finances," Victor Coland.

Albert Theophilus and John Copeland entertained with a song. At the business session held after the program, it was decided to give the Sunday school collection of February 28, to Dr. Anna Jack, to be used in the mission school in the south, where she is teaching this winter.

NEW INTEREST GROUP IN GIRL RESERVES

A few important changes in the Girls' Reserve Club this year that have been made are that Miss Helen Shaffer is taking Miss Hazel Campbell's place in the music department and the Misses Ruth Phillips and Emma Montmare are working together in the club activities, both being former members.

Miss Elizabeth Pollock and Miss Mildred Miller were introduced at the Valentine party held February 16 in the Y. W. C. A. as new interest group leaders. A busy and interesting season is being looked forward to by the girls.

Will Ask Teachers To Accept Cut

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—The teachers in the Easton public schools will be asked to accept a voluntary reduction in salaries, according to a decision of members of the school board, which appointed a committee to interview the teachers.

The appointment of a committee followed the receipt of a letter from James N. Rule, superintendent of the State Department of Public Instruction, in which Dr. Rule told the Easton school board that it cannot legally reduce existing salaries of teachers to amounts less than those provided for by the Edmunds salary act, and that the school code specifically provides that the state appropriation should be paid only to those school districts which comply with the laws governing the public schools of the commonwealth.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Ecker's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles no matter how stubborn the case?

Mr. McCulloch's talk promises to be most interesting and the Grange meeting will in all probability be very well attended.

Lloyd Men Training Hard For Good Battle With Tigers Tomorrow

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 18.—Many local fans will trek to Beaver Falls Friday night where they expect to see one of the best games of the season when Ellwood High and Beaver Falls clash on the latter's basketball court in a return engagement.

Hot Mills Win Streak Broken By Specialty

Take 29-22 Victory Over Champs In Thrilling Battle Last Night

RACE FOR SECOND HALF DEADLOCKED

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 18.—Showing their old-time form and keen rivalry once again, the Specialty cagers subjected the crack Hot Mills team to a 29-22 basketball defeat last night at the Shelby clubhouse. The Mechanicals ran roughshod over the Office, 45-26, in the second game.

The "never say die" spirit of the Specialty served them well Wednesday. They have been on the short end of the count on four other occasions, but never gave up hope of defeating the Hot Mills. Their victory gave them a deadlock with the Hot Mills for second half honors. Therefore much will be at stake on Saturday night's games. Both of the winners will not be pressed hard, it is expected. The Specialty will be up against the Office and the Hot Mills against the Mechanicals. Should both win their games, as they most likely will, a play-off will be necessary to decide the second half championship. If matters come out as expected the play-off will occur on next Wednesday evening. Should the Specialty win this game also, then a post-season series of three games will be played for the league championship, as the Hot Mills were the winners of the first half.

The Hot Mills faced a determined team last night—one with its back against the wall. The Specialty had to win this game or relinquish all hopes for the title. This fact drove them on to supreme heights. They took an early lead in the first quarter and maintained it throughout the game, which was close and exciting. The brilliant work of Patterson and Boone enabled the Specialty to keep ahead. Both of these players caged five baskets. Patterson made three straight baskets from mid-floor in a psychological moment which was early in the initial stanza and aided to demoralize their opponents. The score stood at 10-3 for the Specialty at the end of the first quarter.

Matter came to a head in the ensuing stanza, as both teams began to battle desperately. The Hot Mills' efficient offensive attack began to function with rapidity in this period. Clyde and Fitzgerald acquired two baskets apiece and Richards one by the close of the period. Fitzgerald also sank a foul, to give the Hot Mills a 11-6 advantage in this quarter. Boone got the Specialty's score at this time. The game at half time stood at 16-14 for the Specialty. Both teams resorted to defensive measures in the third quarter. The Specialty added a point to the lead by outscoring their rivals, 4-3, in this period to make the score stand at 20-17.

On three occasions in the third stanza the Hot Mills were within one point of the Specialty's lead. But just before the close of the final period the Specialty launched an attack that swept the Hot Mills off their feet. This drive gave them nine points to two for the opponents. Patterson got another two buckets and a foul and Boone and Aiello one basket apiece for the winners in this period. Ben Chambers got the Hot Mills' only two-pointers. The final score was 29-22.

With every game played the Mechanicals are improving and becoming more dangerous. In the second game they merely swamped the Office with a deluge of baskets. Bud Kimes was the high scorer of the evening, caging 10 field goals and two fouls to give him a total of 22 points, which is just two shy of the record set by Johnny Ursu of the Hot Mills. He is also behind Boone in individual scoring by one point. Ursu has the record in field goals, which is 12 in number in a single game. The Mechanics took an early lead in the initial period and considerably outplayed their opponents throughout the fray. The score was 9-4 at the end of the first quarter and 13-9 at the half for the Mechanicals. The third and fourth stanzas were just scoring bees for the Mechanics. They acquired 16 points in each. In the third quarter the score was 29-19 and the final 45-26.

The fine work of Kimes, Arnold, Ferucci and Stasiek made possible such an overwhelming victory for the Mechanicals. Elder Januzzi and McCandless were the best bets for the Office.

HOW TO DEVELOP ENGLISH TYPE COTTAGE GARDEN

The vogue for the small house is hailed as a propitious sign by those who love the English cottage garden and would like to see it developed in the United States. The cottage garden is evolved by necessity, and the charm and beauty achieved are qualities derived from good, honest adherence to the tradition of practicality plus sightliness. At the lower left of the picture is a typical English cottage garden with a wealth of green and bloom; above, an American cottage with not quite such a profusion of bloom; right, below, pathway leading to the door of the American cottage.

Where Bomb Imperiled Pope

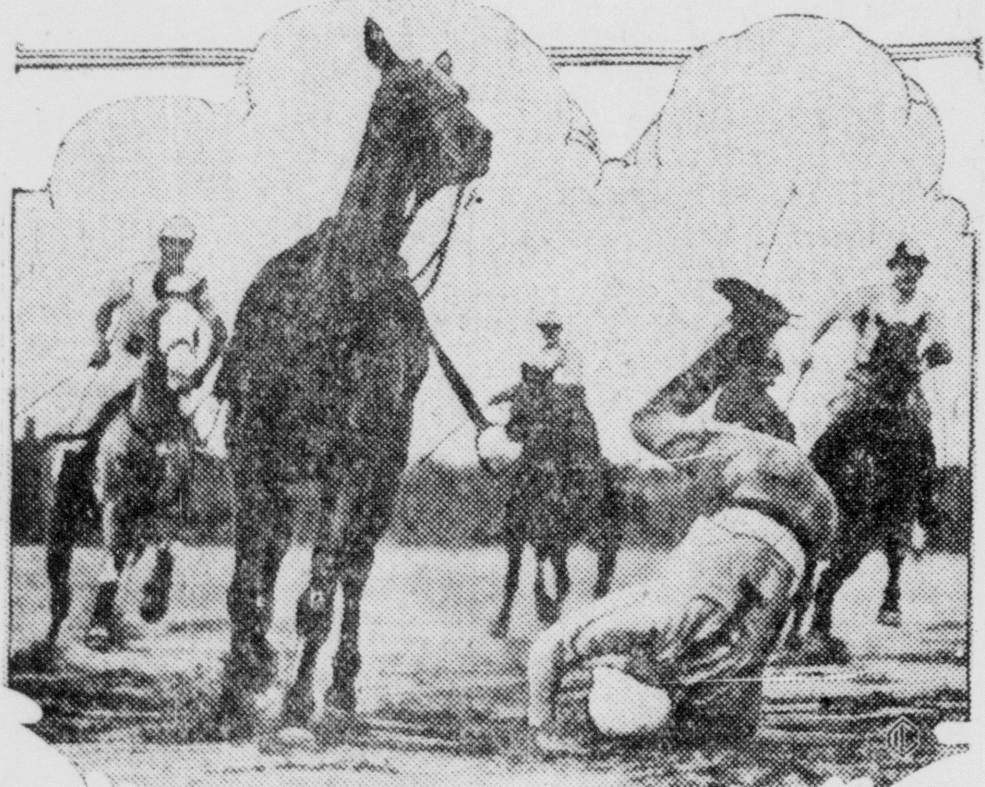

An interior view of the Cathedral of St. Peter, in the Vatican, showing the central altar near which a bomb was discovered by Vatican officials through information received by cable from a mysterious source in America. The discovery averted what would have been one of the world's greatest tragedies, as it is believed the bomb was intended to explode as the Pope was celebrating his anniversary mass, on which occasion the church is attended by about 35,000 people and almost every high dignitary of the Vatican. The bomb was taken by artillery officers to the outskirts of Rome and exploded. Inset is Pope Pius XI.

Racing on Snow Track

Usually we associate the sport of kings with brilliant sunshine, sportsmen in straw hats and sportswomen in flimsy, summery attire. But this race is very different from our conception of an ideal pony scramble. Fur coats and galoshes were the order of the day for turf fans who watched the bangtails run at St. Moritz, Switzerland, over the snow and ice. Here's the finish, with "Bonny Boy" winning the frozen derby.

Why Poloists Wear Hard Hats

ROOSEVELT SEEN AS DEFYING TIGER

With reaction among his supporters in the Democratic party threatening his nomination for the presidency, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York is expected to remove Sheriff Thomas Farley, of New York, a Tammany district leader, as a result of the charges of malfeasance in office placed against him by the Holstadter legislative committee, headed by Samuel Seabury, special counsel. The governor has been advised, it is reported, that strategy demands from him a gesture of independence from the Tammany Tiger. Farley and his predecessor, Charles W. Culkin, were indicted recently for alleged grand larceny in appropriating to their own use interest on funds.

In recognition of her humanitarian work for the blind, Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, friend and tutor of Miss Helen Keller, famous deaf and blind social worker, was recently awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Temple University, Philadelphia. With huge concentrations of Japanese and Chinese troops in the vicinity of the International Settlement at Shanghai increasing the danger to neutral nationals, the great Powers are taking steps to protect the lives and property of their respective nationals by augmenting the armed forces that now guard the settlement. marines preparing to embark for Shanghai on the 10,000-ton cruiser Trento, at Gaeta, Italy, a fortified seaport about 40 miles northwest of Naples. These men will cooperate with United States and British forces who are now protecting the foreign section of the city against invasion by either factions of the belligerent Orientals.

Banished by Anti-Cleric Decree

Carrying their few possessions in wicker baskets, these Jesuit priests of Spain are shown as they crossed the border into France at Irun, Spain, following the government edict which decreed the banishment of their historic order from the country. A ten-day period of grace was given the priests to leave the country, after which property of the order valued at $1,000,000 was confiscated. Numerous schools operated by the Jesuits were closed or taken over by a hastily-organized State service.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Industrial Favorites
Lead Second Hour Rally

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Railroad stocks were unsettled in the early trading today by the 8-point drop in Southern Pacific.

Action of the directors of the Southern Pacific company after the close of yesterday's market, in postponing dividend consideration until next May, was a complete surprise for the financial district.

Losses of a point or two were recorded for New Haven, Union Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and other well known rails at the start of today's session, but there was no heavy outpouring of stocks either in this or any other division of the market.

The industrial favorites led the market in a moderate rally in the second hour. United States Steel moved up more than a point to 48½, while American Telephone jumped about 2½ points to 130½. General Motors was well bought above 23½ and General Electric at 22½, up ¾. Auburn Auto sold up 3 points and J. I. Case was up 2½.

Liberty bonds and treasury issues, carried their new advances to the best levels of the move. Call money was unchanged at 2½ per cent.

Hungarian Quail
Shipment ArrivesHundred Reach City After Journey From Czecho-Slovakia

Frank Coen, deputy game protector for the county of Lawrence today announced the receipt of a shipment of Hungarian quail from Czecho-Slovakia.

The quail was shipped from Europe several weeks ago and when they arrived here today were immediately taken to the Game Farm at Harlansburg.

The quail will not be released at once, Coen said, as he believes that the birds should have a rest following their long ride in coops. He believes that the 100 quail received will help to propagate among the other flocks of Hungarian quail in different parts of the county.

Defies Britain

Ordered by the British Government of India to leave the country within 24 hours, Madeline Slade, former London society girl, daughter of a British admiral and probably the only lieutenant of Mahatma Gandhi not behind bars, has declared her intention of defying the official order. Miss Slade asserted that she will continue to help in the direction of Gandhi's "civil disobedience" campaign which she is now conducting at Bombay.

Brilliant Society Nuptials

Many notables of the social world of New York and Philadelphia attended the brilliant wedding of William McKennan Laughlin and Miss Cynthia Anne Pratt, at Grace Church, New York, and saw the ceremony performed by Bishop Ernest M. Stires, of Providence, R. I. and Thomas Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The bride is a daughter of Alexander Dallas Bache Pratt, of New York. Photo shows the couple leaving the church after the ceremony. Inset is Doris Duke, said to be the richest girl in the world, who was one of the bridesmaids.

BICYCLE THEFT RING

MEADVILLE, Feb. 18.—Police have broken up a ring of juvenile bicycle thieves.

Police say four boys stole bicycles and rebuilt and repainted them to sell. Three stolen cycles and parts of three others were recovered.

Two of the youths accused of the thefts have been paroled.

Last Rites for M-2 Victims

A sea tragedy that plunged many British homes into mourning is recalled by the above picture. Anchored over the spot in the English Channel where the 60 members of the crew of the submarine M-2 rest on the bottom in their steel coffin, the submarine mother ship Adamant served as a church for the requiem services. Wreaths were dropped overboard while chaplains read the funeral services for those who died. Behind the wreaths are Rear Admiral Little, Rev. E. S. Ulyat and Father A. Folty.

Sickafuse Wins,
Bongivengo Must Pay $750 Damage

Verdict In Suit Brought By Joseph Di Thomas returned This Afternoon

SUIT BROUGHT OVER
DEATH OF DAUGHTER

The jury in the case of Joseph Di Thomas against John R. Sickafuse and Louis Bongivengo, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand, this afternoon brought in a verdict in county court in favor of the defendant, John R. Sickafuse, and in favor of the plaintiff against Louis Bongivengo for $750.

As originally filed the suit was by Di Thomas against John R. Sickafuse. Under a recent act of assembly the defendant brought in Louis Bongivengo on a scire facias, as a party defendant. The case is the second of the kind tried here since the new law went into effect. The verdict means that Sickafuse is released from the payment of any damages, and Bongivengo is assessed $750.

The case grew out of the death of Margaret Di Thomas, a daughter of the plaintiff, in an automobile accident, while she was riding in a car driven by Louis Bongivengo. The car crashed into a truck driven by Sickafuse as Sickafuse was turning into a drive west of Charles Bowden's home at the top of the Croton Hill. There was a bus coming up the hill at the time.

One of the principal points involved was whether or not there was a light on the rear of the Sickafuse truck. Bongivengo claimed that he did not see any. Sickafuse called several witnesses to show that the light was burning. It is believed that the lights from the bus may have caused the divergence of testimony as to the light on the truck.

Now that they have reduced the seven year itch to 20 days why not begin work on the prohibition controversy?—The Ashland Daily Independent.

Through? Sez You!

So simple... and yet this unique garment contours the figure to lovelier lines. The clever diagonal "cross-pull" of the straps (that button in back) scientifically uplift the bust to a natural curve, flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, slenderizes the waistline and firmly persuades the body to correct posture.

What Caused An Outbreak Of Typhoid

Dr. Clendening Tells How Carriers Transmit Germs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Approximately 400 persons attended a church supper. Forty-four of these developed typhoid. Four died.

All had eaten potato salad. "The dressing used in this salad was eliminated from suspicion because it had been boiled," says a report. "It was evident, then, that the potatoes alone were the vehicle of typhoid transmission."

"In the preparation of the salad, the boiled potatoes, while still warm, had been peeled and diced by four women. During this peeling and dicing process, hands, soiled with typhoid bacilli, had deposited their germs on the potatoes. The pans containing this food had been covered with towels and set aside until the next day, thus retaining the warmth and providing an excellent culture medium; consequently, contamination was multiplied many times."

"Two of the four women who had peeled the potatoes proved on examination to be typhoid carriers. One of these had a history of typhoid fever 22 years previous. In the interim there had been six cases of typhoid in her immediate family. It is interesting to note that an examination of specimens from both carriers in 1927, five years after the outbreak, showed that they still harbored typhoid bacilli."

Typhoid fever is now a carrier disease, says Dr. James G. Cumming, chief of the bureau of preventable diseases.

Carriers are people who have had typhoid fever and who continuously discharge the germs, and carry them about on their hands. About 10 per cent of all people who have typhoid fever become carriers and remain so for life.

What is the answer? Have yourself vaccinated against typhoid fever. Then no matter what you eat or drink, you are in no danger of contracting typhoid fever.

There was a time when typhoid was all around us—in water, in milk. Any the fact was frightful. In 20 years the occurrence of typhoid has been reduced 98 per cent. The great danger now is from the carrier. And that is hard for health authorities to control. The safe thing is for everyone to have a preventative vaccination.

A colonel in the army medical corps told me that in the old days whenever he was assigned as medical officer of a regiment in field maneuvers, that he wondered whether he would be court-martialed when he got back, or not, on account of the number of typhoid cases that would develop. There was no way to keep men from drinking at wells and streams on the line of march. "But," he added, "now there is no worry. They can drink what they like. There is no typhoid. There is universal vaccination against typhoid."

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Italian Speaks Of Genoa, Italy

Class At International Institute Hears Excellent Talk Last Evening

Carmen Catalano, of Philadelphia, gave an interesting talk on Genoa, Italy, at the regular meeting of the Italian class in the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Catalano was educated in Italy and came to this country about two years ago. He spent several years in Genoa and thus was personally acquainted with his subject.

He was introduced by Miss Espedita Abruzzini, the teacher, who stated that it was her intention to bring speakers before the class to talk in Italian and familiarize the class with correct Italian.

In the talk the past history and present beauty of Genoa was brought out. A general discussion from the social, economic and political standpoints of present day Italy followed. Both Miss Abruzzini and Mr. Catalano related personal incidents in this discussion.

Two visitors, Miss Irene Lombardo and Miss Anna Micco, nurses at the New Castle hospital, were among those who enjoyed a pleasant evening. All those present thanked Mr. Catalano and asked him to return some time in the future.

STREET EMPLOYEES PUT ASHES ON HILLS
Harry Moore, commissioner of the department of streets, took no chances today of automobiles skidding on the hills and at 7 o'clock this morning employees of the city scattered ashes from trucks on the hills.

Another squire, Bill Marshall has his window full of birds he has shot or caught or lured. One of them is a Blue Heron (not a fish) although Tommy O'Brien insists that it's a gowlfus, a rare bird that flies backwards to keep its whiskers out of its eyes.

A gowlfus is rarer than a Peruvian spoon bill duck, which can only be caught when you draw a circle around it while it is feeding on wild strawberries.

The fishing tales run from the Little Neshannock to Georgian Bay and a few of the boys seem to be a combination of Isaac Walton and Baron Munchausen. And all the time they're yarning, a huge mounted fish on the wall, about half a block long seems to leer at them with a fishy grin and say "beat me if you can."

ROAMING

With Richards
Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Sentiment is like mushrooms, you never know where you will turn it up. Some places you might expect to be a prolific source of supply, and others you wouldn't expect to find any more sentiment than you would find gold bars on quince trees.

Never had any idea that coon hunters were sentimentalists. They affect queer hours in their sport and once on the trail of a coon it might be all night before they tree their quarry. But sentiment is something else again. Which is one reason why the following tribute of a coon hunter to a friend is published.

The author, who is a well known coon hunter of this city refused to allow his name to be used. It seemed to be just a natural effusion from a kindly, philosophic soul. Read it and you'll find it interesting.

"TO AN OLD COON HUNTER FRIEND"

The Coon Hunter character in man is never well understood by the world, in fact the coon hunter as such is never understood by the many who think they read character and can properly estimate their fellow man, he is closely a kin to the "missing link"; kindness is one of his many traits, could you imagine his standing by quietly and seeing a dumb animal abused or a dog mistreated. Tho he is not a poet he has understanding therein and hears its rhythm in the gentle drip of the rain, the night call of the Cricket and the Katy-did in the beauty of the trees, in the play of light and darkness, in the mossy banks of the spring and brook and the gentle purring of the stream.

He reads his poetry written by the hand of the infinite in the great outdoors where nature is to many a hidden book. He reads it in the lives of men, whilst the many see only the physical he sees and communes with the soul and spirit of nature as the Creator made it.

He is the man from whom you can borrow his last dime. He will not stand for a little child being neglected nor for disrespect for women.

Among all the men of all the nationalities of this world he is easily the most hospitable, his midnight lunch is doubly appetizing when shared with his fellow hunter or his faithful dog. In his hunt the silent trails of the forest are never too long, in his daily life he is never a notorious criminal, no low brow ruffian ever enjoyed the confidence of a fox hound or took interest in the hunting of coon.

Fishing the streams may be regulated by law, but there's a spot right in New Castle where you can hear fishing done every day, and never any of the little fellows are caught. Squire Green's office is a headquarters, a rendezvous if you please of the disciples of the hook and line and some of the catches made there this winter are larger than anything you ever saw in or out of a stream.

The fishing tales run from the Little Neshannock to Georgian Bay and a few of the boys seem to be a combination of Isaac Walton and Baron Munchausen. And all the time they're yarning, a huge mounted fish on the wall, about half a block long seems to leer at them with a fishy grin and say "beat me if you can."
